

Provides the best opportunity for applicant consideration through simplification of the submission and review process.

The Problem

Instructions for multipart applications can be confusing and overwhelming for applicants. The review and approvals process can be cumbersome and frustrating for program offices if information is missing, incorrect, stored in multiple locations, or requires excessive follow up.

The Solution

The Intelliworx Application Management System brings the entire application management process into a single, secure location. AMS ensures forms are completed electronically, legible, require minimal data entry, and are managed throughout the entire apply, award, fund, report, and closeout lifecycle.
